Jesus minces no words with his disciples: If we acknowledge Jesus publicly, Jesus will remember us before God, our Father. If we deny Jesus, he will forget us. It is very rare that a Christian will denounce Jesus publicly. But we can deny Jesus in more subtle ways. There are many people who conveniently forget all about Jesus Christ and the work of his Kingdom in their daily lives, in moments of weakness, spiritual immaturity or when times get tough. Good stewards strengthen their confession of Christ by praying and attending Mass regularly, examining their lives and going to confession frequently, and reminding themselves daily that Christ resides in them. Take a look at your own daily life. Do you acknowledge Christ before others? How often do you remind yourself that Jesus lives in you? Source: International Stewardship Council e-Bulletin.

Reflexion del la Escritura de Hoy

Duodécimo Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario

CON TU CONSTANTE AYUDA, OH DIOS

"He escuchado las calumnias de la gente: ¡Terror por todas partes!" (Jeremías 20:10). ¿De qué tenemos miedo? ¿Tenemos miedo de las personas que hablan mal de nosotros? ¿De aquellos que curiosean en nuestras vidas? ¿Tenemos miedo de caer en la pobreza? ¿De la guerra en nuestro país? Se dice que aquí en Estados Unidos podemos ser pobres después de una hospitalización y nos llegue la cuenta del hospital; no deberíamos ser tan confiados de nuestros bienes materiales. Nunca sabemos lo que nos puede pasar. Debemos ser misericordiosos con aquellas personas que han caído en la desgracia, y estar listo para ayudar a nuestras hermanas y hermanos, así como Dios tiene misericordia y nos ayuda cuando tropezamos y caemos.

NO TENGAS MIEDO A ALGUIEN

La pobreza existe, así como la muerte existe. ¡Pero no debemos rendirnos o perder esperanza! Pues Dios conoce todas nuestras necesidades y está listo para ayudarnos. "Porque el Señor escucha a los necesitados, y no rechaza a los cautivos (Salmo 69:34). Quizás seamos o no seamos pobres materialmente, pero somos víctimas de nuestra propia tendencia hacia el pecado. Así como Adán todos murieron, en Cristo todos permanecen vivos. "Pero no hay comparación entre el delito y el don. Porque si por el delito de uno solo todos murieron, mucho más la gracia de Dios, hecha don gratuito en otro hombre, Jesucristo se ha derramado abundantemente sobre todos" (Romanos 5:15).

Buscamos a Dios por su misericordia y su consuelo en nuestras necesidades. Dios escucha nuestra oración; y en los escondites secretos de nuestro corazón herido Dios nos consuela y nos ofrece la salvación. "Así pues, no les tengan miedo; porque no hay nada oculto que no vaya a manifestarse, nada secreto que no vaya a saberse. Lo que yo les digo en la oscuridad, díganlo a plena luz; lo que escuchen al oído, proclámenlo desde las azoteas" (Mateo 10:26-27).

Podemos ser pobres materialmente, o tener miedo a ese tipo de pobreza. Todos somos pobres en nuestras faltas, pequeñas o grandes, pero no debemos tener miedo, porque Dios está con nosotros por medio de su misericordia y amor. "No tengan miedo a los que matan el cuerpo, pero no pueden quitar la vida" (Mateo 10:28). En Dios se puede confiar.

Today's Scripture Reflection

There is a consistency in today's readings that might be considered the norm. Many Catholics may say they do not regularly read the Bible, but Holy Scripture, all of which comes from the Bible, is something we hear at every Catholic Mass. Scripture has always played an important role in the prayer life of the Church and of its members. For many centuries the exposure to Scripture for Catholics was passive — that is, they heard it but they did not read it. There were two reasons for that: 1. Many could not read; and 2. The average person did not/could not own a book.

Since the invention of the printing press, were you aware the most commonly-printed book was the Bible? It seemed the custom of reading and interpreting the Bible was a Protestant practice. All that changed in 1943 when Pope Pius XII issued his encyclical Divino Afflante Spiritu, which encouraged Catholics to study Scripture more carefully.

Holy Scripture is rich with meaning for us. Our First Reading today comes from the prophet Jeremiah. Like many prophets Jeremiah lived more than 600 years before the birth of Christ. Just prior to today's readings Jeremiah laments all the trouble he has experienced because of God's call for him to prophesy and proclaim His Word. He also states that as much as he would prefer not to proclaim God's Word (Jeremiah 20: 9) there came in his heart "as a burning fire" that Word. Does that not sound similar to what the two followers of Jesus expressed after meeting Him on the road to Emmaus? "Did not our hearts burn within us?"

We are blessed with the Word of God regularly at Mass. Do we listen? Do we hear it? Do we find meaning in it and try to use it in the way we live? That is what we should do. In spite of his misgivings and regardless of his fears, Jeremiah knew that he was called to proclaim. Each of us a similar calling, but to fulfill that, we must make the effort to understand and to absorb Holy Scripture as presented to us.

St. Paul is believed to have penned his letter to the Romans while he was in Corinth. Although Paul desired to go to Rome, he had not as yet done so. However, he knew that the Church was growing in Rome as it was elsewhere. This particular epistle of Paul is his longest, and perhaps his most detailed theological treatise. This particular passage addresses the issue of sin. As uncomfortable as it may be for us, we need to understand that we were born sinners. Jesus atoned for our sins, but we need to spend our lives also striving to eliminate sin from our lives and acknowledging our sins through the Sacrament of Reconciliation.

Every one of us will die. That is a sign of sin — earthly mortality. Yet Jesus offered us a way to eternal life through His sacrifice and death. It is up to us to accept and live with that. It is up to us to respond as disciples of Christ in reaction to that. It is up to us to live our lives as good stewards as part of our discipleship.

So many times in Scripture Jesus makes it clear to us what we are called to do. In today's Gospel from St. Matthew He states, "What I say to you in the darkness, speak in the light." It would seem that is a call to us to explain Holy Scripture, His Words, by showing others exactly what they mean, and the best way to do that is in how we live our lives. It is not that the Lord speaks to us truly "in darkness," but unless we hear His Word and take it to heart we are not speaking "in light." Jesus assures us that if we, like Jeremiah, have confidence in Him, our rewards will be beyond imagination. It is easy in this secular world to yield to temptation (sin) and it is equally easy to rationalize away the fact that we are Christians and we are called to demonstrate that and proclaim it in our lives.

Yet the Lord assures us, "Everyone who acknowledges me before others I will acknowledge before my heavenly Father." Being a Catholic and being a Christian is not an easy task. Jesus never said it would be easy. But we need to truly understand that our perspective is beyond this world. That is what it means to be a follower and a disciple of Christ.

Healthy Eating on the Go

Feeding your family nutritious meals between all your daily activities can be a challenge. If you must eat on the go, here are some tips to make fast food healthier for you and your family members:

Skip the "supersize" – when you supersize, the size of your fries isn't the only thing that gets bigger!

Skip the sides – Eating a burger or sandwich by itself is often filling enough without fries or chips. If you do want something more, get a fruit or side salad.

Try the grilled chicken sandwich: Chicken without skin is much leaner than the meats used in burgers

Skip the mayo and secret sauces. These dressings and sauces add unnecessary calories.

Drink water, diet soda or low-fat milk. Sodas are loaded with sugars, which have calories you don't need.

Comida sana en el camino

Alimentar a su familia con alimentos nutritivos entre todas sus actividades diarias puede ser un reto. Si usted tiene que comer en el camino, aquí hay algunos consejos para hacer la comida rápida más saludable para usted y los miembros de su familia:

Di NO al "supersize" – cuando comes los combos grandes, el tamaño de sus papas fritas no es lo único que se hace más grande!

Di NO a ordenes extras - Comer una hamburguesa o sándwich por sí mismo a menudo es suficiente sin papas fritas o chips. Si quieres algo más, conseguir una ensalada de fruta o de lechuga.

Probar el sándwich de pollo a la parrilla: pollo sin piel tiene menos grasa que las carnes utilizadas en hamburguesas

Evita la mayonesa y otras salsas. Estos aderezos y salsas añaden calorías innecesarias.

Beba agua, refresco de dieta o leche baja en grasa. Las sodas se cargan con azúcares, que tienen calorías que no necesita.

Teaching Stewardship as a Way of Life

By Leisa Anslinger, author and co-founder of Catholic Strengths and Engagement Community
(CSEC)

The introduction to the United States bishops' pastoral letter on Christian stewardship, written 25 years ago, is just as compelling today as it was in 1992. Its words get at the crux of why on-going stewardship formation in our dioceses and parishes is so important to our Catholic life of faith. It is likely we all can rattle off examples of parishes that "did stewardship" for a few years in a way that really was only about trying to encourage parishioners to increase their offertory contributions, and then found that it "didn't work." The results were limited by the lack of on-going formation of the people in the deeper meaning of stewardship as a way of life. Allow me to reintroduce what is at the heart of stewardship formation by the words of our Catholic bishops:

This pastoral letter initiates a longterm, continuing process encouraging people to examine and interiorize stewardship's implications. At the start of this process it is important to lay out a comprehensive view of stewardship — a vision of a sharing, generous, accountable way of life rooted in Christian discipleship — which people can take to heart and apply to the circumstances of their lives. Concentrating on one specific obligation of stewardship, even one as important as church support, could make it harder — even impossible — for people to grasp the vision. It could imply that when the bishops get serious about stewardship, what they really mean is simply giving money (Stewardship: A Disciple's Response, Introduction).

How do we help people to recognize themselves and grow as disciples who are committed to live as stewards in all of the aspects of their lives, including the life of their parish?

Undoubtedly, offertory enhancement can be very important to the parish and its people. But as the bishops point out in the above quote, people need to be formed to "take to heart and apply [stewardship] to the circumstances of their lives." This is the challenge of stewardship leadership. How do we help people to recognize themselves and grow as disciples who are committed to live as stewards in all of the aspects of their lives, including the life of their parish? How do we help them to see that they are members of Christ's Body, the Church, and as such, have a responsibility to contribute to the very Body to which they belong?

Recently, I was invited to speak at the end of Masses at a parish as the culmination of a month-long focus on aspects of stewardship. I shared thoughts about stewardship as a deeply spiritual way of life. After one of the Masses, a parishioner stopped me and remarked, "I am a professional fundraiser, but I have never thought about financial giving in this way. You have given me much to reflect on, personally and professionally." May all of our stewardship leadership lead people to such reflection!
